HOG EYE CREEK RANCH

The anticipation of fall stirs every sportsman's soul. All through the summer months, we dream about brilliant fall colors, the chill in the morning air, the rustling of leaves as a whitetail buck approaches. If this stirs your soul, let me introduce you to one of Oklahoma's premier hunting properties.

Hog Eye Creek Ranch is located in the rugged Jack Fork Mountains of Southeast Oklahoma, this spectacular 1,340 acre ranch situated in Pittsburg County which consistently ranks #2 in the state for total deer harvest. Pittsburg county also has several Boone & Crockett entries in the Typical and Non-Typical categories.

This ranch has tremendous topography and stunning forests consisting of pine, oak and hickory mix and an abundance of water with with approx. 1 mile of Hog Eye creek which is a major drainage and several other wet weather creeks and ponds.

Description: 1,340 acre acres located in Pittsburg County, Oklahoma. Ranch is located approx. 16 miles Southeast of McAlester, Ok. in the Jack Fork Mountains. This area is generally considered some of the best Whitetail habitat in the county. This ranch has over 10 miles of improved trails.

Cabin: A very comfortable 1,899 sq. ft. mountain cabin, newly remodeled with new roof, windows and siding. This cabin is ideally situated on the southern portion of the ranch, with the bulk of the ranch lying to its north. There is also a separate 2 car garage and storage shed that sits next to the house. House has new septic, new water well and a back up water system from a spring and a water treatment system.

Improvements: New 60' X 40' three bay pole barn with walk in cooler for hanging game. A 10 ton split overhead feed bin and gun range sit in close proximity to this barn.

Terrain: Magnificent mountain land , sitting in the Jack Fork Mountains. Elevation ranges from 1,360 ft on the highest mountain to around 860 ft in the bottoms of Hog Eye Creek. The many mountain tops create stunning views and panorama's of the surrounding landscape. The terrain also offers many draws, creek bottoms, canyons and mountain tops that create the perfect landscape for any outdoor activity.

Water: Approx. 1 mile of Hog Eye creek, several ponds and several other wet weather creeks and several springs.

Game: Whitetail Deer, Wild Hog, Eastern Wild Turkey and Black Bear. This ranch is located in Pittsburg County which is open to Oklahoma's annual Black Bear season. Ranch also has other small game species such as Rabbit, Squirrel and non-game animals such as Coyote and Bobcat. This property has been managed to provide trophy deer hunting and is been on an extensive deer feeding program for many years.
